From Father Kasel

Praised be Jesus Christ through Mary!
 Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ Jesus,
 First, if you have not already done so, I encourage you to receive the Sacrament of Confession before Easter Sunday. There are several opportunities this coming week. Please see details in this bulletin.
 The month of April is dedicated to increased devotion to the Holy Eucharist and the Holy Spirit. Let us strive to grow in more fervent Love for our Lord Jesus, truly present in the Blessed Sacrament and the best friend of our souls, the Holy Spirit! This weekend I share with you a reflection on the efficacy of meditation on the Passion of our Lord. I encourage you to reflect over this message a few times this week:
“Meditating on the Passion - The custom of meditating on Our Lord’s Passion: My people! What have I done, in what way have I offended you? Answer me. I gave you the water of salvation which flowed from My sorrow to drink and you gave me honey and vinegar. My people, what have I done to you? (Liturgy, Good Friday)
 The liturgy of these days during Lent brings us closer to the fundamental mystery of our Faith - the Resurrection of the Lord. If the liturgical year is centered upon Easter then this period *demand*s an even greater devotion on our part, given its proximity to the sublime mysteries of Divine Mercy. (St. Leo the Great, Sermon 47) But we should not tread this path too hastily, lest we lose sight of a very simple fact which we might easily overlook. We will not be able to share in Our Lord’s Resurrection unless we unite ourselves with Him in His Passion and death (cf. Rom. 8:17). If we are to accompany Christ in His glory at the end of Holy Week, we must first enter into His holocaust and be truly united to Him as He lies dead on Calvary. (J. Escriva, Christ Is Passing By, 95) So during these days let us accompany Jesus, in our prayers, along His painful way to Calvary and His death on the Cross. As we keep Him company let us not forget that we too were protagonists in all those horrors, for Jesus bore the burden of our sins (cf. 1 Pet. 2:24), each and every one of them. We were freed from the hands of the devil and from eternal death at a great price (cf. 1 Cor. 6:20), that of the Blood of Christ.

The custom of meditating on the Passion began in the very earliest days of Christianity. Many of the faithful in Jerusalem had themselves been present as Christ passed through the streets of the city on the eve of the Pasch. They would never forget Jesus’ sufferings as He made His way to Calvary. The Evangelists dedicated a good part of their writings to the detailed account of those events. We should read our Lord’s Passion constantly, said St. John Chrysostom; what great benefit we will gain by doing so. Even if you are as hard as stone, when you contemplate that He was sarcastically adorned, then ridiculed, beaten and subjected to the final agonies, you will be moved to cast all pride from you soul. (St. John Chrysostom, Homilies on the Gospel of St. Matthew, 87, 1) How many people have been converted by careful meditation on the Passion!
 St. Thomas Aquinas said that the Passion of Christ is enough to serve as a guide and model throughout our lives. (St. Thomas, About the Creed, 6) One day while he was visiting St. Bonaventure, St. Thomas asked him where he had acquired such good doctrine as the one that he set out in his works. It is said that St. Bonaventure showed him a crucifix which was blackened from all the kisses he had given it, and explained This is the book that tells me what I should write; the little I know I have learned from it. (St. Alphonsus Liguori, Meditations on Christ’s Passion, 1:4) From the crucifix the saints learned how to suffer and truly love Christ. We too should learn from it. Your crucifix... As a Christian, you should always carry your crucifix with you. And place it on your desk. And kiss it before going to bed and when you wake up; and when you poor body rebels against you soul, kiss it again. (J. Escriva, The Way, 302)

 Our Lord’s Passion should be a frequent theme in our prayer, but especially so in these days leading up to the central Mystery of Redemption.
How we should meditate on the Passion: In our meditation, the Passion of Christ comes out of its cold historical (continued on page 3)

CHURCH OF ST. MICHAEL FAITH FORMATION

The next Faith Formation class/session will be on Wednesday, May 4, 6:00-7:45pm at the Church of St. Michael, PI
Topic for May: The Cardinal Virtue of Fortitude

Thank you from St. Pio Knights of Columbus

Thank you to all who supported our fundraiser for Ukraine refugees last weekend! Thanks your generosity, we are able to send over $3,800.00 to Poland to help our brothers and sisters in great need. May our good Lord reward you!

Good Friday Promotion

As we get closer to Holy Week and Easter, the St. Pio Council of the Knights of Columbus is encouraging families to particularly attend the Good Friday liturgy at St. Michael. Despite Good Friday's central nature in the heart of Christianity, attendance at this service across the country remains low. The Good Friday liturgy of our Lord's Passion and death brings us into the suffering Jesus endured, and that through His Passion and Resurrection, the gates of Heaven opened for each of us.

KC Meeting

Our next meeting is 7:00pm, April 20, at the Church of St. Michael

Live in the Word of God

"If we make ourselves totally available for the tasks that the Lord has for us - tasks that His Glory, His Love, and His Mercy involve us in - then we will be plunged into a Mystery so dark that our reason is stymied and our intellect has to get used to being blind. When such a moment comes, a moment we cannot foresee, we have only one source of Light to help us live and endure in the context of ever-changing circumstances. The circumstances may be crystal clear and baffling at the same time, yet this Light never fails: the Gospel of Jesus Christ, given to us by the Church and accompanied by her own commentary. To hear It, Jesus requires of us the ears of children that add nothing to what they hear. They prune nothing from the message they hear, then put into action precisely what they have heard... The Words of the Lord have to be kept by us, they have to dwell in us. We have to read or listen to them to get to know them; but whether they are read or heard they have to be carried within us as the earth carries the seed, and as they are carried they have to germinate if they are to bear any fruit, fruit on our branches... If we submit simply and humbly to the Words and example of Jesus we will find in this submission a firm rope over that great chasm of Charity whose human side we can see - if we keep our eyes on Him - but whose Divine side we can only believe in. By constantly reading the Gospel, reading it in a non-selective manner, taking it up again and again as if from scratch, we are asking for the kind of point of access for a Life-Word that will give this Word the possibility to travel everywhere within us and to go as far as it wants to go, for in each of us there is also a farthest end of the world.

It is in the Gospel that we will find demonstrated how the Love of God made man spells out each letter of the two great commandments; that we will see how Love for our God, if this Love is as great as we can make it, not only can but must involve the Love of all people who have existed everywhere and at all times; loving each person whose destiny in some way touches our own, loving each with a capacity for sacrifice, an energy for action, and a tolerance of suffering that are out of all proportion to the steps we ourselves know how to take or the values we personally esteem." Venerable Madeleine Delbrel (Madeleine Delbr el (†1964) was a French laywoman, writer, and mystic devoted to caring for the poor and to evangelizing culture. WORDS TO LIVE BY:

"And even if the sins of soul are as dark as night, when the sinner turns to My Mercy he gives Me the greatest praise and is the glory of My Passion." Jesus to St. Faustina, Divine Mercy in my Soul: #378
"Do not pass one day without devoting a half hour, or at least a quarter of an hour, to meditation on the sorrowful Passion of your Savior. Have a continual remembrance of the agonies of your crucified Love, and know that the greatest saints, who now, in Heaven, triumph in holy Love, arrived at perfection in this way." St. Paul of the Cross
"True reverence for the Lord's Passion means fixing the eyes of our heart on Jesus crucified and recognizing in Him our own humanity." Pope St. Leo the Great
"Christians must lean on the Cross of Christ just as travelers lean on a staff when they begin a long journey. They must have the Passion of Christ deeply embedded in their minds and hearts, because only from It can they derive Peace, Grace, and Truth." St. Anthony of Padua
"There is no practice more profitable for the entire sanctification of the soul than the frequent meditation of the sufferings of Jesus Christ." St. Alphonsus de Liguori

Please pray for the repose of the soul of Dorothy Diderrich, a long time parishioner, who passed away on March 31. 'Eternal rest grant unto her, O Lord; and let perpetual light shine upon her. May she rest in peace. Amen. May her soul and all the souls of the faithful departed, through the Mercy of God, rest in peace. Amen.'

Father Stu in movie theaters, April 13, 2022

Based on a true story, Father Stu is an unflinchingly honest, funny and ultimately uplifting drama about a lost soul who finds his purpose in a most unexpected place.

Father Stu Long's dramatic conversion to Christ before becoming a priest led many people to Christ and the Catholic faith. His courageous witness left a special legacy in the Diocese of Helena, Montana.

Bishop George Thomas, who ordained Father Stu to the priesthood and Bishop Austin Vetter, the current Bishop of Helena agreed; Father Stu—raw and unfiltered, combative and grace-filled, witnesses to the truth that no one is ever beyond the reach to redemption.

It's a great film that happens to be about a Catholic priest, and in that way, it's a victory for faith.

CHURCH OF ST. PAUL FAITH FORMATION

The next Faith Formation class/session will be on Wednesday, May 4, 6:00-7:45pm at the Church of St. Michael, PI
Topic for May: The Cardinal Virtue of Fortitude

(from page 1) frame and stops being a pious consideration, presenting itself before our eyes as terrible, brutal, savage, bloody... yet full of love. (J. Escriva, Furrow, 993) We do well then to contemplate our Lord's Passion: in our personal meditation, when reading the Gospel, in the sorrowful mysteries of the Holy Rosary, in The Way of the Cross... sometimes we imagine ourselves to be there, present amongst those who witnessed those moments. We take a seat among the Apostles during the Last Supper, when our Lord washed their feet and spoke to them with infinite tenderness, at the supreme moment of the institution of the Sacred Eucharist. We picture ourselves as one more among the three who slept at Gethsemane when the Lord hoped that we would accompany Him in His infinite loneliness; as one amongst those who heard Peter swear that he did not know Jesus; as one who heard the false testimonies at that travesty of a judgement and saw the chief priest make a great show of being shocked at Jesus' words; as one in the thick of the mob that screamed out for His death and saw Him hoisted up on the Cross on Calvary. We put ourselves among the onlookers and see the disfigured yet noble Face of Jesus. Astonishingly, we feel His infinite patience.

With the help of Grace, moreover, we can also try to contemplate the Passion of Christ as He Himself lived it. (cf. R. A. Knox, A Retreat for Lay People) It seems impossible, and of course it will always be a very impoverished view compared with the reality of what in fact took place, but it can become for us an extraordinarily rich source of prayer. St. Leo the Great tells us that whoever truly wishes to venerate the Passion of the Lord should contemplate Jesus crucified with the eyes of his soul, and in such a way that he identifies his own body with that of Jesus. (St. Leo the Great, Sermon 15 on the Passion)

What would Jesus, in His infinite holiness, have felt at Gethsemane, taking upon Himself the burden of all the sin of the world, all the acts of wickedness, of disloyalty, of sacrilege? What loneliness must He have known when three times He found fast asleep the disciples He had taken with Him for company that night? He saw too those among His friends who, in the course of the centuries, would fall asleep at their posts while the enemy remained wide awake.

The fruits of such meditation: If we are to know and follow Christ we must be moved by His pain and helplessness; we must feel the lashes, the thorns, the insults, the neglect, the degradation. And this should be not as mere on-lookers, but as protagonists; for it was our sins that led Him to Calvary. Therefore, it is good for us to try to understand better the meaning of Christ's death. We must get beyond external appearances and clichés. We need to put ourselves really and truly into the scenes which we are re-living; to witness the sorrow of Jesus, His mother's tears, the disciples' flight, the courage of the holy women, the daring of those two Joseph and Nicodemus who ask Pilate for the Body of Our Lord. (J. Escriva, Christ Is Passing By, 101)

If it were only possible I would like to feel all that You feel. But You are perfect Man and Your sensitivity is so much greater than mine. At Your side I see, yet again, that I don't know how to suffer. And so I am amazed by Your ability to give everything without reserve. Jesus, I must tell You just how cowardly I am. Yet seeing You nailed to the Cross 'suffering all that can be suffered, Your arms spread in one gesture of an Eternal Priest' (Holy Rosary, J. Escriva), I am going to tell You something which may seem crazy; I want to imitate You, Lord. I want to give myself truly to You, once and for all, and be ready to do all that You ask of me. I know I am not nearly strong enough to be making such a request. But I know that I love You, Jesus. (C. O'Shea, The Way of the Cross, 11)

Let us, above all, come close to Jesus in His death, close to His Cross which stands out in silhouette above the summit of Golgotha. But we must approach Him sincerely and with the interior recollection that is a sign of Christian maturity. The Divine and human events of the Passion will then pierce our soul as words spoken to us by God to uncover the secrets of our heart and show us (continued on page 4)

NEWS FROM SAINT MICHAEL AND SAINT PAUL

(from page 3) what He expects of our lives. (J. Escriva, Christ Is Passing By, 101) By meditating on Christ's Passion we will gain countless rewards. Firstly, it will help us to maintain a great aversion to all sin, since He was wounded for our iniquities, He was bruised for our sins. (Is. 53:5) Jesus crucified should be the book which we, in the manner of the saints, read constantly so as to learn to detest sin and really grow in love for such a loving God; for it is in Christ's wounds that we learn of the evil of sin which condemned Him to suffer such a cruel and ignominious death so that Divine Justice might be carried out. It is in Christ's wounds that we find proof of His great love for us, for He endured such terrible pain and suffering precisely so as to show us just how much He loved us. (St. Alphonsus Liguori, Meditations on Christ's Passion, I, 4)

And we feel that sin cannot be regarded as just a trivial mistake. To sin is to crucify the Son of God, to tear His hands and feet with hammer blows, to make His heart break. (J. Escriva, Furrow, 993) A sin, therefore, is so much more than a simple 'human error'. Christ's sufferings will encourage us to avoid all that might be described as bourgeois attitudes, unwillingness and laziness. It will inflame our love and keep lukewarmness at bay. It will help us to mortify our soul and guard better all our senses.

If the Lord sometimes lets us suffer illness, pain or contradictions which are especially intense and serious, then it will be of great help and relief to consider the pain which Christ endured in His Passion. He experienced every kind of physical and moral pain since He suffered at the hands of the Gentiles and the Jews, of men and women - an example being the maids who accused Peter. He suffered at the hands of princes and their officials, and at the hands of the ordinary people too. He suffered at the hands of relatives and friends and acquaintances, on account of Judas who betrayed Him and of Peter who denied Him. In short, Christ suffered as much as it is possible for man to suffer. Christ

The Divine Mercy Novena will begin this coming Good Friday, April 15, and ends the Saturday after Easter Sunday, April 23. Please see Novena bulletin insert the weekend of April 9-10.

Any money collected over the cost of the Easter flowers will be used for flowers in the sanctuary throughout the year. Thank you and God bless you!

suffered at the hands of His friends who abandoned Him. He suffered as blasphemies were hurled at Him; His honor and self-esteem suffered from all the taunts and jibes; He was even stripped of His clothes, the only possessions He had. In His soul He felt sadness, emptiness and fear; in His body, the wounds and the cruel lashes of the whip. (St. Thomas, Summa Theologiae, III, q46 a5)

So let us make it our intention to come closer to the Virgin Mary in these days leading up to her Son's Passion, and let us ask her to show us how to meditate on these moments when He suffered so much for us." (From In Conversation with God, by Francis Fernandez) Through the intercession of Mary, Our Mother of Sorrows, St. Joseph, St. Michael, St. Paul, and our Guardian Angels, may our good Lord grant us the Grace to contemplate His Passion!
In Christ through Mary,
